A PROFILE

of the SCHOOL YEAR 1961-1962

The participation of students in academic, club, sports, and school life activities and the work of the faculty inside and outside of the classroom—each is a facet of the profile of CCHS. Through printed word and pictures the COLONNADE presents a profile of the school year 1961-1962.

Another Day-Students enter school to begin another day's work.

Colonnade Honors Pepergram Sponsor

MRS. AUBREY Ross came to Culpeper in 1951 when her husband was transferred by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company. She did not, however, begin her teaching career at CCHS until 1957. Graduating from Westhampton with a B.A. degree, she also studied at Richmond Professional Institute and the University of Virginia.

Last year Mrs. Ross became the sponsor of the school newspaper, the Pepergram. Under her leadership the paper won its first Southern Interscholastic Press Association trophy. She devotes one entire period to working on the publication, and many afternoons she can be found helping her staff meet a deadline. During school vacations staff members often worked at the Ross home.

Since Mrs. Ross has been on the faculty, she has taught eighth grade English, U.S. history, and preparatory eighth grade English and reading. For two years she assisted in the sponsorship of the Junior Dramatic Club and until this year served on the faculty guidance committee. Outside of school Mrs. Ross is a member of AAUW and attends the Culpeper Presbyterian Church.

Because of her interest in all aspects of school life, her work with students in curricular and extracurricular activities, and her contributions to the school, the Colonnade staff proudly dedicates the 1962 Colonnade to Mrs. Aubrey Ross.

of the ADMINISTRATION working to give each student the best possible education

While opening new horizons of knowledge for students, the faculty and administration work to develop character, to build citizenship, and to instill an appreciation of opportunities. These members have watched the arrival and departure of each class, hoping that their training has helped in the preparation of good citizens.

Composed of one representative from each magisterial district in the county, Culpeper County School board includes three farmers, a nurseryman, and an automobile parts man. The superintendent of schools and a clerk complete the board's membership. They meet the second Monday of every month.

Mr. Robert Chilton is serving his first term on the board. Mr. Fred Huffman, chairman, and Mrs. Thomas Shadrach are members who have served the longest number of terms, both having been appointed to the board the same year.

Mr. Paul Hounshell is serving his sixth term as superintendent. He came to Culpeper for his first term on July 1, 1941. A native of Shenandoah, he received his B.A. at Bridgewater and M.A. at William and Mary.

Frazier Directs CCHS For Fifth Year

Principal Forrest Frazier, an alumnus of the University of Virginia, did his post-graduate work at George Washington University where he obtained his M.A. degree. Formerly a resident of Page County, Virginia, he served as principal of Cape Charles High School. At various other high schools in different parts of the state, he has taught mathematics and science and has coached most phases of boys' sports, including football, baseball, basketball, and track.

Mr. Frazier has now successfully led CCHS for his fifth year. He is secretary of Group I-B of the Principal Association of District N, VEA. His services are also used in the community, where he is treasurer of the International Rotary Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Frazier have five children, Daniel, Timothy, Rebecca, Kevin, and Andrew. Danny and Timmy are often seen at CCHS in the afternoon or on Saturday.

Mr. James Stover, is a graduate of Madison College, from which he holds B.S. and M.S. degrees. He serves as assistant principal and director of athletics and teaches two classes of eighth grade and one class of ninth grade boys' physical education. He is responsible for attendance check, and he directs the Physical Education and Health Show.

The four cafeteria workers plan and prepare a well-balanced meal for approximately four hundred people on two shifts daily. Students who assist cafeteria workers in serving receive a free lunch. A dishwasher equips the cafeteria with automatic washing and sterilizing.

During study hall or a free period students assist in office work and run errands. These workers deliver notices containing announcements of the day and an absentee list. A first period worker collects absentee slips and takes the lunch count to the cafeteria. The first period absentee list is checked against the homeroom absentee list.

Both adults and students drive school buses. These drivers must be qualified drivers and good disciplinarians. Student bus drivers are excused five minutes early each afternoon to bring the buses to the front of the building. The cautiousness of all these drivers is particularly important during the snows when roads are icy.

Two custodians are responsible for cleaning rooms and halls and emptying trash each afternoon. Both are ready to fix any breakdowns in classroom equipment during the day.

For several years the cafeteria workers have prepared the food for the COLONNADE and Pepergram banquets. The cafeteria is used as a classroom several periods during the day, and clubs hold dances there on Friday nights. Students took SCAT and STEP tests in the cafeteria because of the space needed.

of the CLASSES composing the student body

As students enter CCHS, some begin the last five years of their education and others prepare for years in college. While they are members of the student body, they make lasting friendships, receive instruction in the classroom, and participate in extra-curricular activities. All have unforgettable experiences as high school students.

Accelerated Students—Elaine Haught, Phyllis Berry, David Roth, Donald Johnston, Alan Wohlleben, and Philip Kearns concentrate on classwork in Algebra I.

of the ORGANIZATIONS providing extra-curricular activities

Coordinated by the Student Cooperative Association, the clubs provide extra-curricular activities in journalism, dramatics, language, music, and vocations. Many of these require after-school work from club members. Through these activities each student is able to receive valuable experience in cooperation, leadership, and training in specific fields.

SCA Gives Pro And Con Of Honor Code

SCA Officers -- Jane Nelson—vice president, Mary Mitchell—secretary, Don Triplett—president, Richard Rhoades—treasurer, Miss Rebecca Mays—adviser, Mr. Shirley Broyles—adviser.

To stress honesty among the students, the Student Cooperative Association worked to establish an honor system. They considered making it optional, because it would involve the whole school. In such a code, a court composed of representatives from the ninth, tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades would judge the lesser offenses, such as chewing gum in class, and take on the larger ones in later years.

Several SCA members participated in a panel discussion sponsored by the National Honor Society. They debated the pros and cons of an honor code.

Because of the discussion about radioactive fallout, the SCA appointed a committee headed by Tay Rafter to establish civil defense plans. They asked each student to bring a can of juice and one of food. They stored these in a fallout shelter located in the basement of the school.

For the second time, the SCA published student directories containing the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of the entire student body. They added the nicknames of the students to the directories.

An appointed committee continued their work on the foreign exchange program. They completed the application for a 1962-63 foreign student.

After the efforts of others had failed, an SCA committee appointed by the school board investigated the possibilities of art in the halls. They discovered a way by which permanent pictures would be hung in the halls to encourage beauty and culture among the students.

To provide training for students interested in teaching was the purpose of the Culpeper Chapter of the Future Teachers of America. During their study halls club members went to Sycamore Park Elementary School to observe the teachers and classes at work. They made reports of the observing at club meetings.

FTA members kept their homeroom teacher's record for a month. They baby-sat at PTA meetings or any other time their service was needed and helped in the school office.

Proceeds from selling Christmas cards provided money for the treasury. Teachers received birthday cards from the club and getwell cards whenever sickness prevented their attending school. The Christmas card money went into a scholarship fund. The club awarded a $50 scholarship to a worthy senior girl who planned to enter the teaching profession.

Ten Members Attend All-District Band

Ten students represented the school at the All-District Band Festival February 2, 3, and 4 in Falls Church, Virginia. Delegates from the senior band were Don Triplett, Mary Bo Willis. Geraldine Jenkins, and Bonnie Kirk.

Phyllis Cothran, Carolyn Hodge, Rebecca Coyner, Catherine Kinsey, John Hill, and Michael Viar were representatives in the junior band. Friday morning the students gathered for tryouts. They devoted Friday afternoon, Saturday, and Sunday morning to practices and staged the concert Sunday afternoon. The band members living in Falls Church acted as hosts to the visiting young people and provided recreation between rehearsals.

Strengthened by the addition of the new eighth grade members, the band played for all the home football games and several of the away ones. The members played for the Homecoming parade and during the half-time of the football game with James Monroe October 20.

Sponsoring their annual magazine campaign in co-operation with the Curtis Circulation Company was one of the chief money-making projects of the band. The company chose five popular magazines for which the band received 50 per cent while the others brought in 30 per cent. During the last two weeks of October, all the students received folders containing the information and prices of the magazines to be sold. They covered the community and cleared $2,033.07. Geraldine Jenkins was the high

The band traveled to Charlottesville November 4 to participate in the High School Band Day sponsored annually by the University of Virginia. Along with 40 other bands from various Virginia high schools the members played during the half-time of the University of Virginia—University of South Carolina game.

The band played for the residents of the Baptist Home December 10. Just before the Christmas holidays the band held a pre-concert to advertise to the students their annual Christmas concert. A few of the selections were "Indepentia," "Christmas Greetings," "Dancing Bells," and "The Green Cathedral."

Practice every Monday night helped the musicians to stay in condition and perform well. It also enabled busy students to be in the band without having a period allotted for it. If a player did not attend practice, the director, Mr. Walter Thomas, did not permit him to play for any activities that week.

In the spring the band marched in the Apple Blossom Festival and the Fireman's parade. Majorettes—Sue Coffey, Ludwell Lake—drum major, Patricia Yowell, Dorothy Jenkins, Cecile Carder.

They provided music for the acts during the Physical Education Show.

These included numbers for the folk dances, modern dancing, gymnastic acts, and the presentation of awards to Mr. and Miss Physical Education.

The Junior Tri-Hi-Y sponsored their annual Suppressed Desires Day February 7. They sold tickets to the students enabling them to have an unusual privilege for a small fee. A few of these "suppressed desires" were bringing a toy, dressing the funniest or the sloppiest, sitting at the senior table, wearing earrings, and reading comic books in study hall. For forty-five cents a student could buy an overall ticket entitling him to do everything on the list. The profits from Suppressed Desires Day helped to pay for the annual Sweetheart Cotillion February 17. The girls also had a bake sale for a money-making project.

Several members accompanied those from the Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y to the Northern District Conference at Leesburg November 11. Junior members assisted the senior clubs at the Halloween Carnival October 31 and helped in staging the annual Y-Club assembly featuring the Christmas story in pantomime.

As in previous years the Junior Tri-Hi-Y helped a needy girl at Easter. They provided her with clothing and shoes bought with money from the treasury.

With the help of the Hi-Y and Junior Tri-Hi-Y, the Tri-Hi-Y decorated for the annual Sweetheart Cotillion all day Saturday, February 17. The girls emphasized the theme, "Love Is a Many-Splendored Thing", with streamers in varying shades of pink and an enormous pink heart in the center of the floor. The profits from the Halloween Community Party in October and two bake sales helped to pay for the music and decorations. To help carry out the color plan, the refreshments consisted of pink-iced sheet cakes and white punch. The Combos, an orchestra of four members, played for the dance. A board composed of several faculty members chose Randolph Hash and Rhoda Brown as king and queen. They judged them on their appearance and dancing.

Staff photographer, Alan Wohlleben, an eighth grader, learned to operate the new camera. The staff feels that the pictures have greatly improved and increased, averaging two pictures per page. Staff artist, Sue Deal, has brightened many of the issues with cartoons of school events.

Feature editor, Nancy Saunders, writes a "Down Devil Alley" column, containing quips of student life. Each issue has feature stories of school events. Sports events receive complete individual coverage and an athlete is recognized each month for outstanding performance. Half of the issues this year were eight pages, whereas in former years only the graduation issue reached this length.

The staff strove to make the students feel that the paper was really theirs by student opinion polls. A survey of the junior and senior classes taken in March showed that students with driving licenses made better grades than those without licenses. Other surveys included opinions of the twist and the newly proposed honor code.

Pepergram members covered all outstanding school activities, in and out of the classroom. The paper performed a service for the school by publishing the procedure the school and individual students should follow in case of a nuclear attack. Through the Pepergram coverage students could relive memorable occasions as Homecoming and the Sweetheart Cotillion. Curriculum activities of Chaucer Day, Shakespeare Day, and an English Coffee House found a staff member recording the event for the newspaper.

Mrs. Ray Evans took individual pictures of every class in September. Each class wore a different outfit, all in dark colors. Mrs. Evans came back in October to take group pictures of all clubs and organizations. These two groups of pictures went to Roanoke Engravers by December 1.

New to the staff this year was a separate faculty editor, a job previously done by the editor-in-chief. This person collected information about each faculty member and had individual pictures taken of each. The editor, therefore, took the student life section in addition to curriculum.

The business manager kept records of all money taken in or paid out by the staff. Cards were given to each club and the number of pages the organization wanted in the book was fixed.

Snow holidays gave the staff the extra time needed for meeting the March deadline. Many staff members had an entire period devoted to Colonnade work.

Each organization has a group picture and one or more informal pictures. The yearly activities of the club composed the write-up, emphasis being put on new activities.

The club held its annual Roman Banquet March 23. To carry out the theme "Mythology", the members of the Latin clubs dressed as gods, goddesses, or famous invthological figures. Latin I students with an A, B, or C average served as slaves. They brought the food in on trays and removed the used plates from the tables after each course. Designated committees planned the menu, decorations, entertainment, sacrifices to the gods, and costumes. The menu included deviled eggs, carrots and celery sticks, fried chicken, tossed salad, string beans, green peas, fruit, pie, and iced tea. Laura Vo Summer, a professor at Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg attended and delivered a speech on mythology. Dickie Bell wrote a play in which the narrator highlighted the main gods and goddesses. The entertainment also included a performance by the modern dance class.

In the spring the members of the three Latin clubs traveled to Williamsburg and Jamestown for their annual trip. They hired a Trailways bus to take them and to make arrangements for eating and sightseeing. To add variety to the scenery, they took a different route on the return trip than the one used going to the city. The members visited the Governor's Mansion, the other restored buildings in Williamsburg, and the Jamestown peninsula. They bought lunch, had a snack before leaving the historical sights, and ate supper in Richmond to make a break in the long trip.

The Junior Dramatic Club scored another successful show March 29 when they presented the play, "A Date with Paul." The students who enacted the individual parts were Susan Aylor as Marion Nolan, Barbara Sumner as Millicent Nolan, Tommy Jones as Theodore Nolan, Carlene Hutsenpiller as Emma Pierson,

Under the direction of a new sponsor, Mr. Herbert Kimmel, the Dramatic Club, staged "Too Many Girls", December 16, in the high school gym. The cast of characters included Henry Weaver, as Henry Hudson, a confirmed bachelor; Pat Haught as Dulcy, a typical teenager who tries to get her uncle married; Geraldine Jenkins as Laura, an attractive spinster; Shirley Ann Norris as Agnes Anthony; Marilyn Lacy as Helen; Dick Bell as Doctor Harold; Claudette Arnold as Dora; Topper

A desire to serve Culpeper County High School in every way possible was the only requirement needed to join the Safety Patrol. The Safety Patrol saw that students got to and from school safely.

As is tradition the Safety Patrol visited the Police Station and Sergeant Robert Thompson talked to the members about the duties of a safety patrolman. While they were there they also visited the rifle range.

This trip helped the patrolmen to realize how important their duties were.

Mr. Bill Eggborn talked to the Safety Patrol about the prevention of fires. He also told them what to do when they saw a fire and especially what to do in case of a county fire.

Mr. John Rogers also talked to the Safety Patrol. He told them that he would give them time on the radio to present a program.

Mr. Thomas Franklin, who is a member of the Rescue Squad, spoke to them about what they should do in case of an accident. He also told them how to get in touch with the Rescue Squad in such cases.

The Safety Patrol also had a panel discussion in which three members asked questions and three other members answered questions on how to drive safely on the highway. The Safety Patrol has seen many films this year. Some of them were on how a patrolman should act and some were about safety on the bus. Others were on safety at home and at school.

One thing that is stressed in the Safety Patrol is good leadership. The Safety Patrol also displays safety posters in the school.

Leaving for Duty Safety Patrol members, Edward Dorsey and James Shaw, leave five minutes before the dismissal bell to go on duty.

The Culpeper Chapter of Future Business Leaders of America won the honor of being the second most outstanding chapter in the United States in June 1961, and received the National Office Management Association's trophy for being the top chapter in the state of Virginia. Mr. Forrest Frazier received the FBLA honor key and became an honorary member of Virginia FBLA.

Bulletin boards, written invitations to join FBLA, and talks to business underclassmen by Mary Ellington, Dianne Myers, and Sylvia Taylor encouraged 54 members to join the chapter in September. A party honored these members and a new sponsor, Miss Frances Weaver, during activity period October 27.

Since the total enrollment was 93, the club organized a junior chapter for 39 ninth and tenth grade members. They elected Gail Simmons as president of this group.

Snow delayed activities resulting in the extension of Business Emphasis Week from February 9 to February 20. The twelfth annual employer-employee banquet was the highlight of the week and the following received awards: Sandra Hitt, spelling; Mary Ellington, speaking; Sue Deal, essay; Tommy Barron and Amelia Yancey, Mr. and Miss FBLA; Alice Martin and Elaine Payne, beginning and advanced typing; and Dianne Myers, parliamentary law. Sharon Singleton performed her monologue "Oh! I Forgot" for entertainment. The club installed the new members for the 1962-1963 term at the banquet. They were Margie Price, president; Darlene Faulconer, first vice president; Lester Shaw, second vice president; Beverly Latham, secretary; Joyce Garrison, treasurer; J. L. Jenkins, reporter; Lucille Pucklitsch, historian: and Dickie Bell, parliamentarian.

With the legend, "Be a Book Worm and Eat Up the Jackets." the Library Club float captured first prize in the Homecoming parade. Ruby Brooke, under the supervision of Mrs. Albert Furgiuele, directed the work of the committee decorating the float.

Members sold tickets when the circus came to town to raise money for their annual trip. A panel presented a program on librarianship as a vocation at one of the regular meetings. By secret ballot the club at the last meeting selected the outstanding Library Club member who received an award at the Awards assembly. With money received from the annual dance they purchased plastic letters for use on the bulletin board. J. L. Jenkins saw that exhibits were kept up-to-date.

With a theme of "Outer Space" the annual dance, March 2, saw the cafeteria decorated with planets and rockets. President Joan Kibler crowned Billy Cannon and Pat Akers Mr. and Miss Outer Space. Mary Alice Atkins won the door prize. Patricia Burke had charge of arrangements for a trip to Washington.

Club Requires Letter For Membership

Girls who had a letter in basketball or softball or had participated in cheerleading for at least two years were eligible for membership in the club. The old members initiated new ones by requiring them to dress in comical costumes and to wear either too much make-up or no make-up at all. Initiates had to carry books and empty lunch trays for Monogram members. School recessed early that day because of snow and shortened the initiation time.

The Girls' Monogram Club planned their annual dance for March 9, but the date was postponed because of snow. Members of the club decorated the cafeteria and sold cookies and drinks. Before the dance they played the Girls' Monogram-Faculty game against female faculty members.

Sponsored by the club, Judy Spencer ran for Homecoming Queen and was victorious, reigning at the October 20 festivities. The student body elected her at an assembly called for the purpose of choosing the queen and her court. The Monogram girls entered a float in the Homecoming parade.

The Junior Monogram Club, or Rinky dinks, held its annual initiation in January. The returning members required the initiates to dress as girls and dance during the lunch shifts. At the basketball game that night they led cheers and had a peanut race across the gym floor. By reaching the other side first, Jerry Amos won the race. The initiates were Ronnie Johnson, Wilson Stallings, Scott Bywaters, Donnie Bowen, A. G. Willis, Griff Durant, Clyde Huff, Buddy Broyles, Monty Saunders, Jack Rhodes, Jerry Amos, Bobby Abernethy, Larry Levy, Bill Kirkpatrick, and Larry Wimberly. To become members of the Dinks, they had to have a letter in a junior varsity sport.

Besides holding an initiation the club helped the athletic department by cleaning the gym before and after games and taking care of the equipment. At the football games they parked cars, directed traffic, sold programs, and watched the fences and gates to make sure no one entered without paying. Their adviser, Mr. Walters, assigned them their posts. To earn money for their treasury, they sold candy and potato chips at all of the home basketball games.

In the spring the Junior Monogram Club held their annual athletic banquet in cooperation with the Varsity Club. The awards given were the Coach's Award, J. V. Athletic Award, Sportsmanship Award, and the Scholarship Award. At the 1961 banquet Walton Jeffress received the Junior Varsity Athletic Award.

Cheerers Find New Sponsor In Bragg

Miss Jacquelin Bragg served as the new sponsor for the Junior Varsity cheerleaders. To stress the importance of attendance, she asked the captain to keep a record of excused and unexcused absences.

In the fall 15 enthusiastic girls ranging from the eighth through the tenth grades tried out for cheerleading. From these girls, the Varsity cheerleaders chose Pam Foan, Naucy DeJarnette. Faye Gulas, Phyllis Huff, Penny Caton, and Teresa Moore to fill the vacancies. Pam Foan and Nancy DeJarnette ran for the second time, as they did not make the varsity squad. The new squad elected Patricia Bates, returning for her second year, as captain.

The girls' uniforms consisted of blue corduroy skirts lined with gold taffeta, white heavy-knit sweaters with "C" monograms, and saddle shoes. Ellen Stein made gold and blue shakers for the girls to use at basketball games. The cheerleaders practiced on Monday afternoons in the upstairs hall.

After decorating a convertible with streamers, the squad rode in the Homecoming parade. They decorated the goalposts for the big game with James Monroe while the varsity cheerleaders fixed the cafeteria for their Homecoming Dance.

The Junior Varsity squad cheered for all jayvee football games and most of the boys' basketball games. For the first time they also cheered for all the home girls' basketball games and several of the away ones. With the varsity cheerleaders they sponsored a student bus to the away basketball games. The purpose of this project was to encourage school spirit and and good sportsmanship. Miss Bragg drove the junior cheerers in a little gray truck to the away football games.

A group composed of faculty members and students decided that the method of choosing cheerleaders should be changed. By a vote they planned to have a small board of faculty members choose both squads.

of the SPORTS and athletic participants

Athletics provide physical development and produce unifying school spirit. In no other aspect of the curriculum is team work more important. Those taking part in athletic events play the part of a good loser as well as that of a good winner. Fall, winter, and spring find CCHS eager to support its teams.

With the ball resting on the 1-foot line, Orange was afraid to run it because of the danger of Culpeper getting a safety. Instead, they threw a short pass out into the flat which was deflected by John Rhoades and Robert Tipton, then nabbed by Walton Jeffress who scored the lone touchdown for the victory.

"Too close for comfort" was the saying for the Culpeper 7-6 victory over the Osbourn, Group I-A Yellow Jacket team. After recovering an Osbourn fumble in the first quarter, the Blue Devils went on to score. Gerald Hoyt scored the lone touchdown from the four-vard line with Edward Willis adding the winning conversion. Vernon Cornwell went over for the T.D. Their failure to make the extra point spelled victory for the CCHS gridmen. With only two victories to their credit, the Big Blue upset the Midlothian Trojan 19-6. Both teams were scoreless until the second quarter, when Bob Murphy of Midlothian scored for 6 points on a three-yard run. Trailing, the Devils tallied on a 23-vard run by Edward Willis in that same quarter. A 19-yard run by William Butler in the third quarter and a two-yard plunge by Willis in the fourth accounted for the rest of the scoring. Willis and Robert Woodard made the Battlefield Districts All-Star team.

Rinkydinks Lack Experienced Players

ALL ARMS UP—Barry Wilkes (30), Bill Cosseel (54) of Warrenton attempt to block Buford Lewis' jump shot, but to no avail.

With only two veterans returning Coach Andrew Walters was faced with a rebuilding job. All of the previous veterans had either moved up to varsity or dropped basketball.

High scorer for the Dinks was Ronald Johnson with 96 points followed closely by Sidney Seale with 90 points. Buford Lewis hit for 48, John Rhoades 24, Charles Saunders 11 and Richard Deal, William Broyles, and Ulysses Suddith two each.

Lacking adequate practice facilities the Little Devils had to practice sometimes until seven o'clock at night. The boys are hoping that the Rotary Club who sponsored the concessions at the Battlefield Tournament made enough money to build a few outdoor courts.

Coach Walters believes that each boy improves with each game and the team showed double improvement as the season progressed.

The second annual Battlefield District Championship Tournament was held in the Culpeper High School gym, February 21, 23, and 24 in which Culpeper had a berth. The previous year the tournament was held in the Orange gym, but so as not to have it held there two consecutive years, Culpeper got the bid because of its gymnasium size.

Mr. James Warren, graduate of University of West Virginia, served as assistant football coach, teacher at Ann Wingfield Elementary school, and versity basketball coach.

The Baby Devilettes began the 1961 season with pep and determination to break their losing streak of four winless seasons. The first win came in their first encounter with Orange, when they froze the ball in the last minute of play and squeezed through with a 11-10 victory. Trampled by James Monroe in their first meeting, the Jayvee's came back to chalk up a victory in their second James Monroe contest, although they trailed until the last quarter.

High scorer for the Baby Devilettes was co-captain, Patricia Akers, racking up 63 points. Co-captain, Gail Simmons, was second with 40 and Kay Kilby third with 39 points.

Mrs. Charles Wayland, coaching her first year at CCHS, faced a rebuilding job with the girls varsity basketball squad. Seven greenhorns joined the four returning veterans. The girls played hard and showed improvement with each game, but they were not able to get into the win column.

Scoring honors went to Patricia Brown, co-captain, a senior forward and captain of three previous years, who hooped in 110 points. Second was co-captain Sarah Witten with 31 points. Barbara Spicer, another senior forward, hit for 27. Barbara Lamphier, who played guard most of the season, accounted for 24 and Marsha Stanfield for 10.

Coach Wayland believes that all players gained valuable experience and, if more people would come out, a stronger team would be on the court in the '62 season. The squad will be losing three seniors.

With Mr. Walter Thomas as coach for the fourth straight year, the grapplers ended their season with a 3-2 record. At the beginning of the season Coach Thomas had his doubts about having a wrestling team, for many of the weight divisions hadn't been filled. A few more boys came out as the practice sessions progressed, but there was only one boy to fill the heavier weight class. This made it difficult on the boys and the team.

Some of the boys weighing only 154 had to wrestle opponents in the unlimited class. Sometimes the opponents outweighed the CCHS boys by 40 to 50 pounds.

Going undefeated this year were James West, Jerry Amos, and Thom Fitzhugh, all of who'll be returning next year. Thom was one of the boys who weighed only 154 but had to wrestle much heavier opponents. Next year's squad will be without the services of Edward Willis and Don Triplett, cocaptains, and Robert Wood.

In the state track meet at Lexington Reggie Lohr broke a 10-year-old Culpeper County High School record in the high jump, by leaping 5'10" to top Danny Crane's record of 5'9". Reggie topped his own pole vault record of 11'1" by vaulting 11'4". Culpeper finished with 6 points in the meet.

Undefeated in the 1961 season, the soft-ball Devilettes captured the Battlefield District Championship trophy, the only athletic one brought home to CCHS. This was the first tournament held in the Battlefield District in girls' softball.

Patricia Brown and Grace Weakley, hurlers for the lassies, held their opponents to 40 runs, while Culpeper collected 183 runs. Patricia Troilo won the batting honors with an average of .622, followed by .500 plus hitters, Patricia Brown and Jean Wolfrey. Brown led the homers with 8. The batting average for the team as a whole was .448.

For the past 15 years the Devilettes have compiled a record of 144 wins and 12 losses.

coach, Edwin Willis, Randolph Hash, William James, Curtis Meyers, Lary Brown, Joseph White, John Wilson, James Kilpatrick.

Finishing the season with a percentage of .166 did not fully picture the brand of ball of the 1961 baseball team. Coach Herbert Hash had only three lettermen returning and had to build a new team.

The pitching staff was limited to two pitchers, Joseph White, who won two and lost six contests and James Kilpatrick, a sophomore who won none and lost four.

Leading in the batting parade was James Corbin with 3 homers and an average of .388. Following him were Charles Brown and Robert Ryan hitting .300, and Randolph Hash, who hit .286.

The Devils best game was May 12, against the Spotsylvania Knights. Joseph White pitched his way to a 6-1 victory, allowing only four hits, while the two Knight pitchers were tagged for ten safeties. Culpeper collected all six runs in the sixth frame starting off with a single by William James and then homers by Corbin and Hash. The 1962 team will be without the services of seniors William James and James Howard.

of the STUDENT LIFE of which everyone becomes a part

Each occurrence during the school year is part of the student life—the first football game, homecoming, vacations, snow holidays, dances, and graduation. From the first day of school when a new year begins until the last day of school and the end of a year students find that everyday happenings compose the life of the school year.

Students Return To School In August

August 29, the day that rolled around too soon for most students, found the halls filled. Bewildered eighth graders sought new classrooms, while seniors began the last lap of their journey. At the first assembly Mr. Forrest Frazier, principal, and Don Triplett, SCA president, welcomed new and returning teachers and students.

Activities, as well as studies, occupied the students' time the first few weeks. Juniors and freshmen took SCAT and STEP tests to determine their abilities. Girls tried out for positions as Varsity or Junior Varsity cheerleaders.

SCA officers, homeroom representatives, committee chairmen, and club presidents took their oaths of office before the student body. Mr. Karl Hellinger, vice president of a local plant, urged eveyone to do his part in fighting Communism.

Spencer Reigns As Homecoming Queen

Damp spirits and damp weather made the preparations for Homecoming parade a little less festive than usual. Students who worked on floats were excused from classes and dodged showers all day. By parade time everyone was full of hope for the big game. Mr. Paul Hounshell, Superintendent of Schools, crowned Judy Spencer, Homecoming queen at half-time. Her attendants were Kathryne Bruce, maid-of-honor; Rochelle Levy, junior princess; Sarah Witten, sophomore princess; Diane Nelson, freshman princess; and Arlene Kilpatrick, eighth grade princess. After the game the cheerleaders sponsored a dance in the school cafeteria.

Juniors and seniors traveled to Orange October 26, for College Night. They talked to representatives from over one hundred schools and colleges.

The Y-Clubs, aided by the P-TA, sponsored the Halloween Carnival to raise money for the Sweetheart Cotillion. Games and contests made Halloween a prosperous night for the club.

Parents Have "Back To School" Night

Every morning during National Education Week, November 6-10, representatives from school clubs gave speeches over the loud speaker, and bulletin boards illustrated the goals of education. On Thursday night of the same week parents returned to school for Parents' Night, following their children's schedules.

The Latin clubs gave a dance November 22 to begin the Thanksgiving holiday. Streamers in fall colors decorated the cafeteria. Each girl received a miniature paper drumstick to carry out the Thanksgiving theme.

The magazine campaign, a band project beginning in October, ended in November without the students' reaching their goal. Anyone who had sold $5 or more in subscriptions received a prize. High salesmen in the school were Geraldine Jenkins, first; Nancy Johnson, second; and Don Triplett, third.

Seniors went to Charlottesville to see the University of Virginia-Maryland football game as guests of the University. The band made the same trip November 4 for the sixth annual High School Band Day.

College Bound Take College Boards

CCHS was the testing center for the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test and Achievement tests, administered in the morning and afternoon of December 2. Students received scores from these tests in January.

Sleet and snow caused the postponement of the Dramatic Club play from December 9 to December 16 and the band concert from December 17 to December 18. Under the direction of Mr. Herbert Kimmel the dramatists staged "Too Many Girls." The band presented their annual Christmas concert the Sunday before Christmas.

The Y-Clubs' pageant, "Unto Us", closed the school Christmas season. Jane Nelson and Lee Rhoades portrayed Mary and Joseph in the pantomimed Nativity scene. After the pageant everyone left for a welcomed vacation which allowed time for work on term papers, as well as Christmas festivities. Students who were passing all subjects and had obtained a work permit from their employer were excused from school two days before the Christmas vacation to work in local stores.

Exam Schedule Takes Three Full Days

"Dare I Look?"—Lou Phillips and Sidney Seale, top picture, receive mid-term report cards from homeroom teacher Mrs. Richard Jones. Calvert Hand, second picture from top, has his absentee excuse signed by Mr. James Stover before reporting to homeroom. Barbara Jenkins, Evelyn Jenkins, William Smoot, and Fred Cronk, bottom picture, study diligently for their mid-term exams.

Returning from Christmas vacation students began to think about approaching mid-year exams. A one day snow holiday offered extra time for review. January 15, 16 and 17 were exams days.

January marked the opening of wrestling season. Student buses, sponsored by the cheerleaders, provided transportation to the away basketball games.

A two day vacation after exams gave students a chance to recover from the testing, while teachers remained at school for a midyear conference. Colonnade and Pepergram staff members welcomed the vacation as a chance to work on their respective publications.

The National Honor Society presented the January assembly. A panel composed of several club members discussed the honor code set forth by the SCA this year. After the discussion students asked questions.

The Junior Monogram Club initiated new members at the Culpeper—James Monroe basketball game. Initiates came to school dressed as girls and at night assisted the cheerleaders.

Snow Days Cut Short Spring Vacation

February proved to be a snowy month. School closed early several times and students missed three entire days. These days were caught up during time previously allotted for a spring vacation.

Ten junior and senior band members went to All-District Band February 2, 3, and 4 at Falls Church. Those attending played with bandsmen from Northern Virginia.

The Y-Clubs held their annual Sweetheart Cotillion February 17 with the theme "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing." Red and pink streamers enclosed the sides and ceiling while little red cupids stood on the tables. Randolph Hash and Rhoda Brown reigned as King and Queen, chosen by the chaperons.

The SCA had charge of the February assembly. Mr. O. Kenneth Campbell spoke on "Good Government Evolves From Good Citizens—Tomorrow Begins Today."

The Future Business Leaders of America celebrated Business Emphasis Week February 12-16. The club stressed business importance through bulletin boards and displays in store windows.

Librarians Celebrate Glenn's Flight

"THE GRANDEUR THAT WAS ROME"—Sally Hamer and Dorothy Gilbert lead the imperial procession of Latin II

and Latin III gods and goddesses, clad in improvised Roman togas, before the feast at the 1961 banquet.

With the end of basketball season came club dances Friday nights. The Library Club kept the space spirit of the country after John H. Glenn's flight in the theme of their dance March 2. Rocket ships and planets decorated the cafeteria, and chaperons selected Mr. and Miss Outer Space, Billy Cannon and Patricia Akers. The Spanish Club, Los Panamericanos, treated the school to a fiesta March 16.

For the March P-TA meeting parents viewed the annual Science Fair. All general science, biology, chemistry, and physics students entered projects with awards going to the top four entries in each class.

Latin I slaves served Latin II, III, and IV gods and goddesses at the Roman Banquet. An emperor and empress, elected by the clubs, ruled over the occasion.

April was a month of trips and conventions. Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y delegates took part in the governing of their state for three days at Model General Assembly in Richmond. Last Full Month Proves Eventful One Sunny days in May brought spring fever, banquets, and awards to hard-working students. The Pepergram staff had their annual banquet on May 9 at which time the new officers were installed. The Colonnade staff had their banquet, and all members of the staff received their new yearbooks before general circulation. All boys who had participated in sports during the year attended the Boys' Monogram banquet and dance for the boys and their dates. Medals went to outstanding athletes.

The band held its spring concert on May 20. Mr. Walter Thomas, director, recognized top musicians through the presentation of the bandsman's award.

Top classmen participated in their Class Day. Final examinations occupied students' time the last week of the month. Juniors honored seniors at the traditional Prom, an event eagerly anticipated by seniors and for which the hosts had diligently prepared all year.

RAFTER AND CANNON TAKE OATHS—Ann Robson and Louise Stevens, 1960-1961 Pepergram co-editors, top picture, install new co-editors Tayman Rafter and William Cannon at the annual newspaper banquet. June Eighth Brings Welcomed Vacation Graduation was the most impressive event of the year. The graduates filed into the auditorium for the last time as students of Culpeper County High School on the night of June 8. Mr. Paul Hounshell, Superintendent of Schools, presented the diplomas to the graduating seniors. On the last day of school underclassmen received their last report cards of the year.

Months ahead of time the seniors chose the type, color, and style of the announcements of this, their big step into the world. The graduating class measured for caps and gowns earlier in the year. Some of the graduates made plans to enter the business world, while others thought ahead to next fall when they would become college students.

While some students could look forward to three months of vacation without tests or exams, others would attend eight weeks of summer school. Extra-curricular activities were also gone.

On the last day of school seniors looked back over their high school years. They would never forget their first day as eighth graders, the years as underclassmen, and the senior year—marching into assemblies, Class Day, eating at the senior table, and the Prom the juniors planned in their honor.

of the ADVERTISEMENTS of local business establishments

Through the advertising in publications, local businesses have a direct contact with the members of the school. These businesses provide livelihood for people in the community, as well as jobs for students after school and during vacations. Local distributors supply many of the commodities for the cafeteria and school store.

With school behind you . . . what's ahead?

College, perhaps? Wonderful! A job? Wonderful, too, if it's the right one—with opportunities to progress and learn as well as earn. There are many such jobs at C&P, waiting for girls like you. In a telephone job, you not only start with good pay but are specially trained to make more. Raises and advancements are frequent. Surroundings are pleasant—people are friendly—and your work is never dull. Why not make your first job a telephone job—one that can lead to a happy, rewarding career?

A PROFILE

of the END of the school year

The end of a day or the end of a year each signifies the completion of hard work, as well as fun, in the life of each student and teacher. As the 1961-1962 term draws to a close, everyone looks back at the studies, the activities—the trials, the rewards. Some will graduate, most will return, but all will remember this year at CCHS.
